

University of Rhode Island DigitalCommons@URI

Briefing Book: National Endowment for the Arts
(1994)

Education: National Endowment for the Arts and Humanities, Subject Files I (1973-1996)

2016

Briefing Book: National Endowment for the Arts (1994): Speech 21

Follow this and additional works at: http://digitalcommons.uri.edu/pell_neh_I_14

Recommended Citation

"Briefing Book: National Endowment for the Arts (1994): Speech 21" (2016). Briefing Book: National Endowment for the Arts (1994). Paper 20.
http://digitalcommons.uri.edu/pell_neh_I_14/20

This Speech is brought to you for free and open access by the Education: National Endowment for the Arts and Humanities, Subject Files I (1973-1996) at DigitalCommons@URI. It has been accepted for inclusion in Briefing Book: National Endowment for the Arts (1994) by an authorized administrator of DigitalCommons@URI. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@etal.uri.edu.

"ACCOUNTABILITY" TALKING POINTS

- o The NEA awarded an FY 1992 grant for $45,000 to Creative Time, Inc., an arts organization in New York City. The grant was awarded to support the creation and presentation of new art work by visual artists in public spaces. Creative Time, Inc. is also supported by private corporations, among them Chase Manhattan Bank and Con Edison which match the grant of federal funds.

- o Programs supported by Creative Time include an art project called "Mass Transit" about public transportation and created in association with the New York City Metropolitan Transit Authority. Another program was the "Accountability" project by artist Dinh Lee, which reflecting the artist's vision of the effect of the Vietnam war on the Vietnamese people.

- o The NEA awards grants to organizations such as Creative Time because of the importance of encouraging community based organizations which present contemporary American artwork to the U.S. public. Such organizations include the Galveston Art Center in Galveston, Texas, the Contemporary Art Center in Seattle and the Bemis Foundation in Omaha, Nebraska.